ISSUE No. 27

ARE WE REALLY SO "EVIL" TO DEMAND . . .

BRITISH JOBS FOR BRITISH WORKERS

. . . OR IS THE GOVERNMENT RUNNING SCARED?

FRANTIC efforts were made by the Government, the Police, six borough councils, the mass media, Immigration organisations and the Marxist 'Rentamob' to stop the National Front holding a "British Jobs for British Workers" march in the West Midlands on Sunday 17th August.

They all failed.

Why was it that the whole of the might of the Establishment, in alliance with the hooligan Left, decided to gang up to try and prevent the National Front from speaking up on behalf of unemployed British people?

The answer was given at the end of August when the Government shamefacedly announced that there are now more than TWO MILLION people in Britain without a job!

We predicted this in our September issue when we said: "By the time this issue appears the figure will probably have exceeded 2,000,000."

The Establishment knows that it can keep its power only so long as it can provide a substantial number of the population with jobs, decent incomes, entertainment, and the possessions which can keep the mass of the population "contented".

THE 'DANGER'

But if the Establishment loses its capacity to provide bread and circuses then there is the 'danger' that people will start thinking for themselves and talking to each other about the big issues that confront them.

If enough people become rudely awake to the fact that the Conservative, Labour and Liberal politicians have failed then they might start to consider alternative political leadership.

One of those alternatives is the National Front.

That is why the Establishment was so desperate to try and ban the NF's "British Jobs for British Workers" march just before the two million unemployed announcement had to be made.

The Marxist rabble allied themselves with the Establishment because the Reds like to think that they are the only option for the British people when the Monopoly

THE PEACEFUL MARCH THEY TRIED TO BAN

This is the kind of picture of the National Front that the Press and TV will never show you. The media will only show pictures that promote the myth that "NF marches automatically provoke violence". Press and TV photographers only got to work at Nuneaton after Communist hooligans had rushed into town and began to attack the peaceful NF march.

Capitalist system collapses.

The Reds are terrified that the NF's message of Nationalism will prove more appealing to the fundamentally patriotic British people than their squalid and boring Marxist dogma.

As a result, the Reds are happy to establish a temporary symbiotic relationship with the forces of the Establishment — in particular, with the Police — to try and halt the NF's advance.

The rules of the game which the Establishment/Red Mob team play against the NF are contained within the Public Order Act.

Under the Act, a Chief Constable has the right to request that a local Council apply to the Home Secretary for a ban on any march set to take place in the area of the Council if he believes that the march is likely to occasion grave public disorder.

Thus the moment the Red Mob and its allies in the Immigrant community hear of a forthcoming NF march they announce plans for a "counter-demonstration" which, they make clear by hints and veiled threats, will be violent.

THREATS

These threats are then amplified by the mass media with lurid references to the "Battle of Red Lion Square", the "Battle of Lewisham" and the "Battle of Ladywood" and also to "the high cost of policing NF demonstrations".

Thus the threat of violence and public expense creates a hysterical atmosphere in the locality of the proposed march which enables the Chief Constable concerned to 'justify' a decision to call for a ban on a march "in the interests of public order".

In other words the Public Order Act is used by the Police, local Councils and the Government to reward those who use violence and the threat of violence and to penalise and repress those who are the intended victims of such violence.

The Police, of course, always claim that they base their judgments solely on public order considerations, but the conduct of the Chief Constable of the West Midlands, Sir Philip Knights, indicated quite clear political motives.

The day after he banned the NF march in West Bromwich he attended a meeting of the Sandwell Council for Community Relations and assured them that he would never allow the NF to do anything that might harm 'Community Relations'.

CYNICAL

After the West Bromwich march had been banned the NF gave Sir Philip notification in a confidential letter of proposals for alternative marches in five other towns. Had he kept the letter confidential the NF could have marched peacefully in any one of those towns.

But instead he leaked the contents of the letter to the Press. He thereby tipped off the Red Mob and thus created the conditions necessary to 'justify' his applying for five further bans!

If the Establishment are prepared to engage in cynical manipulations of the law and alliances with the Left to try and stop the NF, then it shows that they are frightened of our message.

All the more reason for us to keep up the pressure!

Nuneaton: HOW WE DID IT

THE POLICE often complain that march organisers do not give them adequate notice of demonstrations. Mr. Martin Webster, NF National Activities Organiser, sent written notice to the West Midlands Police on 25th June of the NF's wish to march in West Bromwich on Sunday 17th August.

On 1st July Assistant Chief Constable Kenneth Evans wrote to Mr. Webster "taking note" of the NF's plans and raised no objection to them. He invited Mr. Webster to settle final details at a conference.

A conference was held on 9th July and all details of the assembly place and march route were agreed apart from the location of the concluding open-air rally.

News of the NF's plan to march in West Bromwich was leaked to the Press (not by the NF) early in July and the ritual demands for a ban and threats of violence were voiced by Left Wing and Immigrant groups.

On 21st July the leader of the Labour controlled Sandwell District Council, Cllr. Joe Adams, together with two of his colleagues and the Town Clerk, held a private meeting with Sir Philip Knights, Chief Constable of the West Midlands.

Immediately after that meeting Sir Philip caused a letter to be sent to Mr. Webster saying that the Police would not allow the NF to form up or hold its rally "on any public highway or place."

PLAY

Clearly, Sir Philip was trying to impede the NF's ability to hold its march not by banning it under the Public Order Act but by deploying vague elements of Common Law so as to render the NF's need to assemble its marchers unlawful.

This ploy constituted a grave threat to the NF's right of assembly which could not go unchallenged.

Therefore Mr. Webster secured a personal interview with Sir Philip on 4th August. At this Sir Philip conceded that the wording of his subordinate's letter of 21st July

No. 27 OCTOBER 1980

NO SAUCE FOR THE GANDER?

SHORTLY after Southall Asian Gurdip Singh Chaggar was murdered by a multi-racial gang in 1976 the now defunct National Party held an anti-Immigration rally in Newham at which one John Kingsley Read declared: "One down — a million to go!" The authorities took this to be a reference to the Chaggar murder, so Read was prosecuted under the Race Relations Act. An Old Bailey jury acquitted him, however.

This acquittal prompted an amendment to the Race Act whereby the Crown was relieved of the obligation to prove "intent" in "incitement to racial hatred" prosecutions.

On 17th July this year an Asian man was killed in Newham — allegedly by White teenage muggers. On 19th July a protest demonstration of 5,000 Asians was told by Moslem priest Abdul Butt: "They killed one of us — we will kill one of them! A death for a death!"

So far there has been no move by the authorities to prosecute Butt under the Race Act or any other more appropriate law.

What would happen to an NF leader were he to say at a rally called to protest against the murder of a White OAP by a gang of Black muggers: "... we will kill one of them! A death for a death! ...?"

Why not write to the Attorney-General and ask him? We will publish his reply.

NF News seeks to persuade its readers to feel angry about the evils of multi-racialism and to direct their anger solely at the corrupt politicians who created a racial problem in Britain, and not to the Immigrant people in general. "Racialism" is NOT unlawful — only "racial hatred".

Foreign imports putting millions on the dole

THE WEST MIDLANDS stands on the brink of collapse as Britain's major industrial and manufacturing centre.

Already there are close on 222,000 unemployed, over 9% of the region's workforce.

The authoritative Cambridge Department of Applied Economics predicts unemployment in the region rising to nearly 14% within the next three years.

Covington points the way in which the West Midlands is going: 10% of the workforce is now unemployed.

Thousands have lost their jobs at Canley where the car assembly works which previously employed over 9,000 workers closed last month.

Renolds, the car component manufacturers, have sacked 700 workers. Massey Ferguson, who manufacture farm machinery, will shortly be sacking 800. Thousands of Talbot workers are working a one day week at Ryton and Stoke.

In Birmingham the list of firms reducing their workforce or closing down completely grows weekly. They include Dunlop, Cadbury, Triplex, Rubery Owen, GKN Sankey, Wilmot Bredon, Associated Engineering and Tube Investments.

Mrs. Thatcher, the Marie Antoinette of our times, says of the unemployed: "Let them work elsewhere!"

Where would Mrs. Thatcher have them go? To the South, with its relative lack of manufacturing industry, where in any event unemployment is rising?

The crisis of British industry is now reaching a traumatic stage. This is no mere "recession" out of which a new prosperity will emerge; things are going to get worse and worse, especially for working people.

The internationalist economic policies of successive Conservative and Labour governments are murdering Britain's industry.

The only alternative to internationalist economic treason is the Nationalist economic policy of the National Front.

British Jobs for British Workers! Ban foreign imports!

Muggers terrorise schoolchildren

THE APPALLING facts about Britain's multi-racial schools are of course suppressed by the national media. Occasionally, however, incidents are so appalling that coverage by local newspapers is unavoidable.

Such was the case in July this year, when public outrage erupted after terrified White children at a Wolverhampton Catholic comprehensive school were coshed and beaten by a mob of 30 West Indian pupils from a nearby school.

At least four White children of Our Lady and St. Chad's school needed hospital treatment for head wounds after the unprovoked attack by Blacks from the Heath Park Comprehensive School.

The incident happened outside the Catholic School. Headmaster Brother Lucas said: "It was a pre-meditated and planned attack and could have been a disaster."

The White pupils of St. Chad's, aged 12 and 13, were waiting for their school bus when the gang of 30 West Indians, boys and girls aged between 14 and 16, attacked them with wooden clubs, chains, rice flails and sticks.

There were screams of panic as the children were beaten to the ground by blows to the head, and were kicked as they lay there. Terrified, sobbing White girls tried to cram aboard the waiting bus to escape the attackers.

One 12 year old girl said she was hit on the back and ran to the school gates with some of her friends.

"They chased us up the drive but some of the teachers and sixth formers were playing cricket and saw what was happening."

The staff ran across and drove off the Black attackers with their cricket bats.

Many of the pupils did not go to school the next day because they were afraid of another attack.

"NOT RACIAL"

Det. Inspector Alan Firth of Dunstall Road CID, who said the attacks were being treated as offences of wounding and serious assault, opined:—

"We do not regard this as a racial incident. It was a serious disturbance between school pupils," yet added: "All the attackers were West Indians."

For once, local Councillors were stirred from their apathy and blinkered pro-multiracialism to demand a public inquiry. Councillor Mrs. Hodson warned:

"This sort of thing will be happening all over our town if something isn't done to stop it," a remark that hardly accords with the glowing account of multi-racial education usually bleated by Wolverhampton councillors.

Parents later stormed out of an Education Committee meeting after the Chairman blocked attempts by parents and some Councillors to debate the attack. Some threatened to withdraw their children from local schools.

Councillor Davies, the Education Committee Chairman accused of "stifling" a debate, would only comment:—

"Behaviour of this sort is totally unacceptable and completely inexcusable from whatever quarter it comes, whether the perpetrators are Black or White." Ugh!

NUNEATON—THE INSIDE STORY

He claimed that he had not intended that the letter should convey that the NF could not form up on any public highway or place — all he objected to was a residential road being used for this purpose on account of inconvenience to residents.

He gave Mr. Webster to understand that the march would go ahead providing a suitable assembly place could be found for it.

Mr. Webster gave Sir Philip to understand that the NF was determined to march regardless of threats of violence from the Left or attempts by the Police to 'pull strokes' of dubious legality.

As a result, on 6th August Sir Philip formally requested Sandwell Council to apply to the Home Secretary for a Public Order Act ban on the march.

WORD BROKEN

Mr. Webster told the Press that Sir Philip had broken his word and had allowed himself to be intimidated by threats of Left Wing violence. He promised that the NF would still march on 17th August, but outside the area covered by the ban.

Sir Philip's response was to point out that a County by-law required march organisers to give the Police three days' notice of their intentions, and added that if the NF proposed an alternative march on his patch it would be open to him to ban it.

The NF decided that if Sir Philip was intent on pursuing a vendetta against the party, that fact had better be advertised as widely as possible.

With this in mind Mr. Webster hit on the idea of notifying Sir Philip of not one but FIVE simultaneous marches in different metropolitan council districts within the county on 17th August as well as a simultaneous token protest involving himself and two unemployed YNF members at West Bromwich.

With the help of NF Directorate member Ian Anderson, Mr. Webster spent 12th August touring Dudley, Wolverhampton, Small Heath (Birmingham), Walsall and Coventry, planning marches in each town.

They also toured Nuneaton — traditionally regarded as a West Midlands town, but which falls just outside the order of the West Midlands County of Warwickshire.

CONFIDENCE BROKEN

A letter from Mr. Webster notifying Sir Philip of the NF's march plans for five towns in the West Midlands County and details of the West Bromwich token protest was delivered early on 14th August.

The confidential letter stressed that the NF would not give advance notice of which towns it had chosen, but would only announce that it had plans for five marches in the county.

This scheme offered Sir Philip the opportunity both to preserve public order and uphold the NF's rights of assembly and freedom of speech.

It would confuse and divide the forces of the violent Left — and further negotiation could have resulted in the NF agreeing to reduce the number of marches at the last moment.

But Sir Philip had committed himself publicly to hounding the NF — and anyway, his summer holiday was being disrupted.

He therefore disregarded the confidential status of the NF letter and told the Press the names of each of the towns specified in it.

Having alerted the NF's violent opponents by this improper action, he was thereafter able to claim that each town faced a serious threat to public order and, on that basis, was able to secure Public Order Act bans on each town.

NUNEATON OPTION

In the face of such a cynical manipulation of the Act, the NF had no alternative but to resort to its secret Nuneaton option.

At a press conference in West Bromwich on 14th August NF Chairman Andrew Brons declared that the token protest in West Bromwich would go ahead and that the party would still march "somewhere in the West Midlands" on 17th August, but that the Press would get only one hour's notice of its location.

Meanwhile NF organisers received a bulletin which instructed them to transport their members to a lay-by just south of Birmingham on the day of the march where they would be given further directions.

That bulletin was 'monitored' by the Police in the post. Thus when the NF coach parties arrived at the lay-by it was swarming with Police who immediately set about trying to intimidate coach drivers.

The Police had guessed that the NF might be intending to march somewhere in Warwickshire, and so the Chief Constable of that county also came to the lay-by.

He was greeted by NF Deputy-Chairman Richard Verrall, Directorate members Ian Anderson and Michael Salt, and Chief Stewards Tony Caradas and Jim Webster.

CREDIBILITY LAY-BY

"Where are you going now?" asked the Chief Constable.

"Home."

"I don't believe you. Look, if you're marching in Warwickshire, just tell me where, and I'll allow you to do so."

"Ho, ho, ho! Do you expect us to believe that after the treatment we've had from your oppo Sir Philip Knights?"

"You can't expect me to comment about that. But if you tell me where you want to march, I promise I'll allow you to do so."

"Very well then — we're marching in Nuneaton."

Within minutes 650 NF members in coaches and vans, followed by 1,000 Police, stormed down the M6 to Nuneaton.

Meanwhile, Excalibur House

Security Officer Derrick Day was phoning up media newsdesks telling reporters to go to a redirection point where they would be given a map by NF Wolverhampton organiser Eric Shaw.

Mr. Shaw was briefed to do this job by phone two days beforehand. He was not told the location of the march, but only to report to Mr. Verrall at the redirection lay-by.

NF:1 — SB:0

When Mr. Shaw left his home on the morning of the march he found he was being 'tailed' by two men in a car. He went to Wolverhampton Police station to report this, only to be told that the two men were Special Branch officers!

The Press and the Police got to Nuneaton in good time to cover the NF march. The only people who arrived late and in pitifully small numbers were the SWP/Anti-Nazi League rabble.

So Sir Philip Knights — the man who earlier this year allowed the IRA to parade through Birmingham past the pubs they had bombed — failed to prevent the NF from marching.

The NF held its "British Jobs for British Workers" march in the West Midlands on Sunday 17th August, just as it promised it would — and achieved massive publicity as a result.

Once again the NF won a victory for freedom over State tyranny and Marxist mob rule.

INVESTMENT ABROAD

Transport Union official, Bill Goulding, based on Lucas, has complained that while closures abound in the West Midlands, Lucas continue heavy investment in South Korea, Argentina, America and France.

In the North West, unemployment is running even higher, currently at 10%. The unemployment figure of nearly 298,000 is an increase of 82,000 on that of a year ago.

The list of closures grows daily. Courtaulds has announced the closure of another seven mills in Manchester bringing its total redundancies to about 19,000 in the past 18 months. Bowater has announced the pending closure of its plant at Ellesmere Port.

In Liverpool there are 57 unemployed workers for every job vacancy while in nearby Birkenhead unemployment has increased since May from 17,900 to a startling 23,000. In Merseyside generally 14.9% of the workforce is on the dole and more than 30,000 workers have lost their jobs in the last three years.

And so the sorry decline of Britain's manufacturing industries continues. For the first time in history, Britain is likely to have a deficit in trade in engineering products in 1981.

The Thatcher government claims that by "slimming down" these industries they will emerge more efficient and competitive but this view is hotly contested even by a wide spectrum of establishment economists.

While foreign manufactured goods continue to flood into Britain and while British capital is permitted to finance foreign manufacture in direct competition to our own, British manufacturing industry will never grow more efficient.

Our oil, until it runs out, is all we have to export to pay for the manufactured imports which we should be manufacturing here.

DEFIANCE AT NUNEATON

POUNDING OUT OUR MESSAGE — the NF's NW of England Regional Drum Corps at the head of the column. The crisp sound of their drumming inspires NF marchers to march with pride and also drowns out zoo noises from the Reds.

MASSIVE PRESS AND TV PUBLICITY was won by the NF marchers as a result of their refusal to be bullied by the State or intimidated by the Red Mob into cancelling the march for Britain's unemployed.

"BRITAIN FOR THE BRITISH!" used to be a Labour Party slogan in the days of Keir Hardie. Now the Labour Party allies itself with the alien-led rabble of the Socialist Workers' Party to attack a campaign for British workers.

N.F. STEWARDS KEEP COOL AS REDS GO APE!

AMUSEMENT, INCREDULITY AND CONTEMPT are pictured on the faces of three NF stewards as they gaze at the antics of the Left Wing freak-show and zoo as it straggled by. Several of the Red Rabble had emotional disturbances. One half-caste negress became so absorbed in shrieking abuse as she trotted along the pavement that she ran into a lamp post and knocked herself out! Pictured giving a 'V' sign is the Chairperson of the Warwickshire Militant Lesbians Anti-Racist Commando. Despite their threats the Reds kept safely on the other side of the fence.

THE MEN WHO FAILED TO STOP US MARCHING

SIR PHILIP KNIGHTS, West Midlands Chief Constable, is one of those top cops who earned his reputation — and some say his knighthood — by "low profile" policing of the multi-racial areas under his supervision.

The NF's announcement of its intention to march in West Bromwich provided him with an opportunity to ingratiate the Police with the Immigrant community. He overruled his subordinate officers' permission for the NF march to go ahead and then attended a rally of the Sandwell Council for Community Relations where, it is reported, he promised he would never allow the NF to do anything that might harm "community relations". He later banned five alternative NF marches — but the NF marched nonetheless!

Paul Holborrow promised to mobilise "5,000 anti-racists to smash the NF off the streets", but he turned up late — accompanied by only 200 supporters — and in the confusion got himself arrested.

1,000 REDS TIED DOWN AT WEST BROMWICH

IN ORDER to divide the forces of the Left, NF National Activities Organiser Martin Webster announced that not only would the NF be holding a "secret march" somewhere in the Midlands, but that he would also stage with two unemployed YNF teenagers, a demonstration at West Bromwich.

The Reds, not certain that all NF demonstrators might not turn up at West Bromwich to support that demonstration, despatched about 1,000 of their number to oppose Mr. Webster and the YNF members. This severely depleted the number of Reds available to track down and oppose the main NF march.

Mr. Webster and the YNF youngsters were ordered away from West Bromwich by the Police — but they had accomplished their mission!

N.F. ACTIVISTS KEEP UP THE PRESSURE

...AT TUNBRIDGE WELLS,

...AT HALIFAX,

...AND AT BOLTON

AT PRESTON. . .

THE NATIONAL FRONT filled the summer holiday period with the most intensive sequence of marches, demonstrations and rallies in the history of the party – and the activity was nationwide.

The sequence of holiday activities ended on 14th September with an exciting “British Jobs for British Workers” march through Preston, North Lancashire.

Even though only 28 days after the much-publicised march at Nuneaton – and despite severe transport difficulties – 800 NF members paraded through the town. 200 Anti Nazi League counter-demonstrators provided entertainment but no problems.

After the march a rally was held in protest at the way foreign imports were causing the wholesale close-down of Britain’s textile industry.

The activity sequence began with two ‘regional’ marches on the same day – Saturday 9th August.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS

300 members of Young National Front marched through Tunbridge Wells, Kent, in protest at the way this lovely town is being spoiled by an influx of Iranian ‘students’.

Leading the march were YNF Publicity Officer Joe Pearce and YNF Student Organiser Nick Griffin. The activity was organised by local YNF organiser Paul King, assisted by Kent Regional officials Paul Johnson and David Smith.

HALIFAX

Meanwhile, more than 200 NF members marched through Halifax, Yorkshire, on a “British Jobs for British Workers” demonstration.

The woollen textile industry of Halifax and other Yorkshire towns has been as badly blighted by cheap foreign imports as the cotton textile industry of Lancashire.

NF Chairman, Andrew Brons – who lives in nearby Harrogate – led this march, the first ‘regional’ activity to be organised by the Yorkshire Regional Council.

BOLTON

On the evening of Wednesday 13th August members of Bolton Branch, supported by members from Manchester, picketted local councillors as they entered Bolton Town Hall for a meeting.

This was the first of a series of demonstrations promised by Bolton NF Organiser John Hamilton in protest at the Council’s plan to give £71,000 to provide ‘Community Centres’ for the town’s Asian and West Indian population.

BRIGHTON

The revival of Brighton Branch proceeds apace following the welcome departure of a geriatric clique of aspirant Middle Class blow-hards and do-nothings.

20 NF members led by the Branch’s new Publicity Officer Martin Wingfield held a torchlight picket outside a Labour Party meeting at the Pavilion Theatre in September, where Trotskyite MP Dennis Skinner was the main speaker.

Local Labour official Rod Fitch bleated: “We will not be intimidated!” as the audience slunk out by the back door.
